Safety Professionals and Construction Workers - The Same Mission

Do Safety Professionals and construction workers have different views of risk on the job? Is there a disconnect between them or are they both working together to, ultimately, not get injured or killed?

To get the construction worker and the Safety Person on the same page to accomplish, ultimately, the same mission of getting nobody injured or killed while getting the job completed soon and efficiently, understanding that there is risk in the task or job, then reducing that risk by controlling or even eliminating the identified hazard or reduce the risk...

Heat Injury Protection Planning

Even without a specific OSHA regulation on heat injury prevention, Safety Professionals can take several proactive steps to protect workers from heat-related illnesses. This is the time of the year to plan for the hot season. OSHA has good information at the link below to help with this planning process.

More information is available on the on the page and link below:
